Skolnick dug this guy up.

Ex-agent tells 'plot' on Wallace

The attempted assassination of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace was the work of a conspiracy, according to a former undercover agent for the Milwaukee police.

Tim Heinan told a Bensenville meeting of The Greater Chicagoland Area Support Your Local Police Committees that he saw Wallace's assailant, Arthur Bremer, 3 years ago at a meeting of a student radical group.

He said that he believes the shooting of Wallace was part of a plot by revolutionary groups, and accused the press of trying to suppress the story.